

Organisational Mission

Mission

Education for Health focuses on the education of health professionals as a key factor in improving patient health and quality of life. Our mission is to take action, educate people and transform lives worldwide.

Taking action

Education for Health was the first institution to promote the role of practice nurses and to provide high quality education to enable them to extend their roles. This innovative spirit continues to inform all of our activities, ensuring that we continue to provide high quality health professional education and training, right across the world:

- We advocate the importance of continuous professional education in raising quality standards and in sustaining a world class health service
- As more services shift into primary care, we continue to expand our health and social care training to the whole multidisciplinary team.
- We work hard to anticipate the needs of an evolving primary health and social care workforce.
- We are creating a growing portfolio of disease prevention, risk management and health improvement training courses
- We work in partnership with individuals, other charities and professional associations to improve patient care
- We are expert in developing educational events, materials and digital content which motivates and inspires adult learners to improve their care of patients
- We work collaboratively to develop innovative ways to disseminate research and to encourage guidelines-based care.

Educating people

We are a specialist provider of cardiovascular and respiratory education and training, educational products and qualifications. We are an Open University accredited institution offering both accredited and non-accredited training opportunities. This is delivered through our unique combination of:

- Distance and blended learning
- Interactive face-to-face study days
- Workshops which stimulate active, participatory learning
- A range of products that are designed to support a student's education and training experience.

We adapt and deliver our training courses and programmes right across the world, providing training in over 47 countries.

We are unique in supporting robust research evidence to prove that our education and training can lead to:

- Measurable improvements in the quality of health services
- An increase in the confidence and competence of health professionals
- Improvement in the health outcomes of patients with long term conditions.

Transforming lives

Education for Health:

- Provides a great learning experience
- Develops its students' belief that they can make a difference
- Willingly and enthusiastically shares its knowledge and experience with any individual, group or organisation across the globe where doing so aims to materially and substantially benefit patient care.
